

We must NOT allow this continued consolidated private growth on the public airwaves. These frequencies to transmit upon, they are not owned by private interests - they are the people's interests.

As a "clear" example, Clear Channel has nearly destroyed what was previously a thriving and interesting media market in Austin, TX as well as hundreds of other cities throughout the country. They have done no one in this town any good, their business ethics are a shame to America. Their control of the media has not enriched its content, nor provided a more competitive landscape.

We cannot allow this to continue, whether with Clear Channel or any other controlling private group.

It is the FCC's responsibility to represent the people and our message is clear: the FCC must NOW put an end to media deregulation and focus on enabling a rich, balanced and fair media.

Respectfully;
as a concerned citizen,

Nathan M Nunn
Austin, TX